Kathleen Kurtin, FRAIC asked if the membership fees are reflected in the 2018 or 2019 financial statements.

J. Robbins, MRAIC responded that the 2019 membership dues that are collected in 2018 are reflected in the 2019 budget as a deferred revenue.

M. Brennan explained that the membership dues represent $1.2MM in revenue and that the RAIC will continue to grow the revenue streams and try to bring the overall revenues to $5MM which would allow to off-set the cost of membership dues. Barry Johns, FRAIC presented a friendly appeal for support to RAIC members in attendance on behalf of the RAIC which represents the voice of advocacy for architecture in Canada. He explained that Simon Fraser University has applied for a demolition permit for the Madge Hogarth women residence. He stated that the demolition would compromise the master plan of the campus designed by Arthur Erikson and Geoffrey Massey. He added that the building established Arthur Erikson and Geoffrey Massey's careers and the institute itself. He informed the attendees that the Arthur Erikson Foundation has concluded that the reasons for the demolition are manageable. He added that the Foundation is seeking a final appeal to enable it to enter a dialogue with the Simon Fraser University and Arthur Erikson's family to seek alternative measures to preserve the residency. He added that he is looking for support to seek alternate measures to preserve the building from being demolished. He concluded by stating that the demolition would represent a loss to contemporary heritage of Canadian architecture.

Trevor Boddy, FRAIC added that there are discussions regarding an application of UNESCO heritage site. He stated that Simon Fraser University is planning on replacing this building with a six-story student residence.

Barry Johns, FRAIC asked the attendees, by a show of hands, how many are in support of professionally and politely advocating for the retention of the integrity of Simon University Campus.

The majority of the room supported the appeal.

Barry Johns, FRAIC thanked the members for their help and support.

Mona Lemoine, MRAIC, CORE Chair, announced that the RAIC has approved in principle the Resolution for Urgent and Sustained Action on Climate and Ecological Health. She added that a declaration for Canadian architects has been launched to coincide with the global climate march that can be found on the RAIC website.

M. Brennan thanked Mona Lemoine, MRAIC on behalf of the RAIC for her leadership and her hard work with CORE.

A participant asked why the RAIC Conference will be held in the same cities over the ten years.

The participant stated that he would like to see RAIC events to be held in venues that reflect the RAIC values.

M. Cox, FRAIC asked members to send their venue suggestions that could accommodate RAIC events.

Stuart Howard, PP/FRAIC stated that he has noticed that the most successful RAIC Festivals where held in smaller cities but understands that most of these Festivals lost money.

President M. Cox, FRAIC responded that there are two gaps in the ten-year plan where the RAIC will be considering smaller venues.

Carrie Smart, MRAIC thanked the RAIC staff and Board of Directors for the development and support of Chapters and Networks. She added that members in her region expressed a need to develop solutions regarding inclusivity and to have a bit more transparency at the Board of Directors meetings by either publishing the agendas or minutes on the RAIC website.

Gene Dejneka, MRAIC thanked the RAIC for the development of Webday Wednesday.

Randy Dhar, PP/FRAIC stated that in the past, the RAIC membership fees were included in the Provincial Association dues. He asked if there is a possibility for the RAIC and Provincial Associations to implement something similar.

President M. Cox, FRAIC provided historical information regarding the RAIC and the Provincial Regulators. He added that the RAIC and CALA have started discussions about furthering the relationship positively.

Trevor Boddy, FRAIC stated that the younger members within the Vancouver Chapter would like to see the RAIC deliver advocacy programs. He added that there is a consensus that the annual conference is expensive.

President's Report

As I write this in the midst of the COVID-19 shutdown, I find it almost impossible to report on what transpired in 2019 without seeing it through the present context. Today the present is uncertain—nevermind trying to imagine what the future holds. The metric by which we measured success a few months ago might be completely irrelevant at the moment. As you read this, I hope each of you is safe and well.

Elsewhere in this Annual Report, you will find detailed accounts of the 2019 RAIC programs and activities which indicate, to me at least, a return to organizational stability—the ink is black and growth is positive. Governance renewal is ready for your consideration. A strong foundation has been built upon which to begin a new planning cycle.

The financial report for 2019 shows a modest surplus, almost exactly the amount budgeted for the year. This positive performance is attributable to growth in membership—both in numbers and revenue—and growth in organizational partnerships, as well as expanded continuing education opportunities.

Festival in Toronto, despite being a one-time variance from the traditional calendar-cycle, was very well attended and, by all accounts, a great experience. The 2020 budget conservatively forecasts a further positive variance, and that will mark the first time since 2012 that we have enjoyed three successive years of financial success.

Most of our effort in 2019 was spent in the distinctly unglamorous pursuit of governance reform. I am profoundly grateful to Committee Chair—now President—John Brown, and the rest of the committee, for their unwavering commitment to this task and to all board members who regularly and rigorously examined draft documents and offered comments. Once passed by the membership, the revised Bylaws—along with accompanying documents—will ensure compliance with corporate regulations and will establish a two-year term of office for the RAIC President.

It is upon the strength of these fundamentals that the future of the Institute will be founded. Many of the face-to-face events scheduled for 2020 have been altered by the current circumstances. Among them was a three-year strategic planning exercise that is being restructured at the time of this writing. Too important to be postponed, the process will likely involve a virtual session to plan for immediate priorities for 2021, with a follow up to be determined as circumstances permit.

These few words make these accomplishments sound simple—I wish it were so. Governance and the operational management of a successful organization like the RAIC is a team sport. And make no mistake, volunteers and staff alike, we are a team. We respect one another, we support one another, we challenge one another, and we share in these successes together. It may be a cliché to say that it has been an honour for me to have been your 79th President. Nevertheless, I count every one of the two years, three months, and 21 days as a distinct privilege—pun intended.

CEO's Report

A significant amount changed for the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada in 2019. If there is a singular underlying driving idea for our organization over the past year—it would be growth.

A clear marker that demonstrates the wellbeing of the RAIC is how our staff and membership grew in 2019. Our organization sits with a healthy 93 percent retention rate, and an additional 434 new members joined the RAIC over the past calendar year. Part of this growth can be attributed to the increased communications between members and our staff.

In 2019, we introduced a new membership survey for the RAIC. The survey aimed to assess our members' needs regarding the member savings and benefits program, open communication pathways between our members and staff, and to assess how the RAIC can do better as the national association representing architects and architecture. The feedback we gathered will help inform and guide decisions made by the organization in the future.

The structure of the RAIC grew a tremendous amount in 2019. After substantial planning in 2018, the RAIC launched the first provincial chapter in British Columbia—made up of the Victoria, Mid-Island, and Metro Vancouver networks—to begin the new year. Our organization also launched the Alberta Chapter—comprised of the Edmonton and Calgary networks—later in April, and members living in Atlantic Canada met during the summer to plan the launch of the Nova Scotia Chapter for 2020. Each of these networks has now begun hosting events and strengthening connections in their local communities.

Another way that the RAIC has grown is through our partnerships with other industry-leading organizations. These new partnerships will open even more opportunities in the future for our organization and the profession across Canada. Our different avenues of growth have led to a strong financial position for the RAIC. Our member benefits program has been enhanced with discounts on the RAIC Online Store, Dell products, and International Trade Council membership. The RAIC greatly expanded its Continuing Education program during 2019. New offerings for the year included 26 online webinars under the Webday Wednesday banner, six project management workshops, financial management and leadership courses, and the introduction of a new learning management system that allows for on-demand learning for RAIC members.

These developments in the organization culminated in another successful Festival of Architecture that took place in Toronto in October 2019. It was a great celebration of the profession, and this year it included the newly renamed RAIC International Prize Gala—with the support of distinguished Canadian architect Raymond Moriyama.

As part of the Festival of Architecture, the College honoured five architects as Honorary Fellows of the RAIC. The 2019 Honorary Fellows exemplify the role that architects play in public life around the world and the evolving diversity of the profession. We were also proud to induct 50 new Fellows into the College for 2019.

The RAIC continues to strengthen as an organization, and it could not have been done without the passion of our Board of Directors, staff, partners and dedicated members. I look forward to continuing to grow the RAIC, strengthening the profession and promoting excellence in the built environment.

College of Fellows

The College of Fellows of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada is composed of members who have been approved by the Board of Directors of the RAIC and advanced to Fellowship by the College of Fellows in accordance with these Rules and Regulations. The Fellows and Honorary Fellows are known collectively as the College of Fellows.

Chancellor's Report

I would like to begin my report with congratulations to the 41 individuals from across the country that were named to the RAIC College of Fellows for 2019 in recognition of outstanding achievement.

The 2019 RAIC International Prize recognized the Baha'i Temple of South America in Santiago, Chile and Siamak Hariri from Hariri Pontarini Architects as the winner of the RAIC International Prize.

The RAIC Foundation also recognized three winners of the 2019 RAIC International Prize Scholarships. Laure Nolte of Dalhousie University, Lucie Palombi from University of Montreal and Odudu Umoessien of University of Manitoba were the recipients.

As a national organization, the College of Fellows—and the greater RAIC—must have inclusivity as a core value. At the RAIC Festival in Toronto, the RAIC College reviewed expressed concerns that use of the title “Fellow” is perceived to be an obstacle to inclusivity on three fronts. The current public colloquial use of Fellow clearly implies the “male” gender, there is no equivalent word in French, and there is a historic connection to colonialism and cultural domination.

In February 2020 the RAIC Board approved a motion to modify the title Fellow to Distinguished Member of the RAIC—or a different title produced from due diligence with legal, fairness, and language experts and a consultation process within the College and RAIC membership.

Susan Ruptash FRAIC was elected in the spring of 2020 as Chancellor of the RAIC College of Fellows for a three-year term beginning June 2020. Susan has a long record of service to the architectural profession and the public. The first woman elected as Chancellor in the history of the RAIC College of Fellows, she will be an amazing Chancellor. I wish her the very best.

Claudio Brun del Re, FRAIC, was elected as the new Registrar of the RAIC College of Fellows, along with Tom Emodi, FRAIC as Dean of the RAIC College, they will form an accomplished, strong, and dynamic team with Susan.

I am concluding my term as Chancellor in June 2020 and would like to recognize and thank Chantal Charbonneau, CAE, Hon. MRAIC, Director, Honors and Awards / College of Fellows. Her knowledge and wise counsel on all things related to the RAIC have been invaluable.

I would also like to thank Mike Brennan— CEO of the RAIC—and the amazing staff at the RAIC.

Finally, I would like to thank John Brown FRAIC—Chair of the RAIC Board—and the members of the RAIC Board. It was a privilege to serve with an extraordinary group of architects and educators committed to the profession and culture of architecture in Canada.

The next few years in the coronavirus environment will by necessity and circumstance influence how we study and practice architecture. Ideally, this will be a time for architects to learn lessons, collaborate, grow and shape new safe, healthy, and resilient environments.

We will need a strong RAIC Board to be our national voice advocating for our practices, our industry, and our wellbeing.

Festival of Architecture

The Royal Architectural Institute of Canada (RAIC) welcomed attending delegates to the 2019 Festival of Architecture in Toronto. The theme for the event was “The Future of Architecture.”

Attending practitioners joined leaders and emerging talents in architecture and design, students, faculty and allied professionals for five days of workshops, tours, two galas, and many other events.

This year's Festival included 44 separate continuing education opportunities—including tours, speaker sessions, and workshops. The topics ranged from establishing a National Architecture Policy for Canada, to sustainable building practices—and everything in between. The weeklong celebration of architectural excellence also included the award-winning POP//CAN//CRIT the RAIC International Prize Gala, and the 2019 RAIC College of Fellows Convocation.

For 2019, there was also an increased focus on sustainability for the Festival of Architecture. Through a series of new initiatives, sponsors, and partnerships, the RAIC minimized waste, conserved energy, and reduced the overall environmental impact of the week-long event.

A significant change for delegates was the festival program. Instead of the printed programs that were used at past Festivals, a mobile app was developed—which provided all the information delegates needed while significantly cutting down on paper used for the event. The RAIC also decided to not provide bottled water for Festival. Instead, water stations were available throughout the conference centre and delegates were encouraged to use refillable water bottles or the glasses that were provided.

RAIC College of Fellows Convocation Keynote Speaker:

Bernard Plattner

With over 40 years of experience working, and a senior partner, at the prestigious Renzo Piano Building Workshop, accepted honorary fellowship and delivered the keynote address on behalf of Renzo Piano at the RAIC College of Fellows and Syllabus program convocation.

The 2019 Festival of Architecture had an illustrious and extensive list of speakers. In addition to the Convocation Speaker, the other Keynotes included:

Vishaan Chakrabarti

FAIA | Founder, PAU is a practising architect, professor of design and urban theory at Columbia University, and the author of A Country of Cities: A Manifesto for an Urban America. He lectures and writes about rethinking global urban life in the 21st century.

Elizabeth Chu Richter

FAIA | CEO, Richter Architects is the first Asian-American woman to be elected as President of the American Institute of Architects (2015). Richter champions the power of architecture and reached millions of listeners with the radio series The Shape of Texas, broadcast for 11 years on NPR-affiliate stations.

Ivenue Love Stanley

FAIA | Managing Principal, STANLEY, LOVE-STANLEY, P.C. is a pioneer who broke many barriers. She was the first African-American woman to graduate from the Georgia Institute of Technology College of Architecture in 1977, and the first African-American woman to become a registered architect in the Southeast. She lectures widely and is a community leader and mentor to students and young architects.

Programs, Committees and Task Forces

Continuing Education

Continuing education is a requirement for all architects throughout their careers. The RAIC has long offered high-quality learning opportunities and credits. In 2019 the RAIC expanded its continuing education program. The practice-based continuing education program directly addresses the needs of practitioners at every stage of their careers.

The highly successful Project Management for Architects course held six workshops in Halifax, Winnipeg, Montreal, Victoria and twice in Toronto. The RAIC also launched a new webinar series, Webday Wednesday. The series explored topics such as wood construction, social media and communications, design, adaptive reuse and advanced technology. 26 webinars were held with over 714 registrations in 2019. The RAIC also launched two new courses as a part of the '...for Architects' series, Financial Management and Leadership.

The RAIC continuing education program also launched the Corporate Affiliate series, an exclusive, webinar-based series offered by RAIC's Corporate Affiliate members and partners who are committed to salient and informative learning opportunities. The webinars are free on Friday's and RAIC members can receive continuing education credits.

Finally, the RAIC launched its new Learning Management System (LMS), offering on-demand webinars. The new system allows for courses and webinars to be accessed online at any time. On-demand courses are in development and will be launch in Spring 2020.

Emerging Practitioners Committee

The mission of the RAIC Emerging Practitioners Committee (EPC), chaired by Fotini Pitoglou, is to connect and strengthen the voice of emerging practitioners across Canada in order to serve, inspire and advocate for their continued professional growth on the path to licensure. 2019 was also the year where the terms of reference were updated to reflect the ongoing mission and priorities of the EPC.

Ensuring access to relevant education, the EPC worked with RAIC staff to ensure robust offerings including webinars on the following topics: ExAC preparation (registration requirements and Q&A study tips) as well as Contract Administration and the National Building Code – parts 3 and 9.

Another focus in 2019 was to encourage the engagement of RAIC EP members during the RAIC Festival on Architecture. The EPC carried out a number of events during the 2019 Festival in Toronto, including:

- EP Meet and Greet/After Party
- Award Winner Breakfast Talk with Jessie Andjelic – winner of the RAIC Young Architect Award
- Con-Ed session “Back to School” - presented by Alexandre Hamlyn of the RAIC EPC, which involved a panel discussion on the intersection of architectural education and practice
- RAIC EP Design Competition - The top 10 finalists were displayed, and winners announced at POP//CAN//CRIT
- RAIC EP Open meeting (Intern, syllabus and CASA reps attend this meeting each year so that the EPC can garner and share information and feedback)

The RAIC is grateful for the participation of all committee and taskforce volunteers and we thank outgoing and incoming members for their valuable contributions.

RAIC SYLLABUS

RAIC Syllabus Program

In 2019, the RAIC Syllabus Program accepted 46 new students into the program; an average annual increase from 2017 and 2018 of 10 students per year. The Syllabus graduated four with a Professional Diploma in Architecture (Dipl. Arch.). Syllabus continued into its 41th year with the support of dozens of highly committed volunteer practitioners who collectively donate many hundreds of hours to teaching, mentoring, supervising, and critiquing the 169 students active in the program. In addition to their routine duties of supporting students and volunteers, Registrar Brynne Campbell and Syllabus Administrator Jessica McCormick developed the documentation to support the individual learning pathways for each Syllabus student. A policy updating project was undertaken and completed in conjunction with a comprehensive review of all RAIC policies. The next major project is updating the Syllabus Program curriculum to align with the new Canadian Education Standards (CES) for Architects.

Indigenous Task Force

The Indigenous Task Force (ITF) of the RAIC, chaired by Dr. Patrick Luugigyoo Stewart (Nisga'a), MRAIC, seeks ways to foster and promote Indigenous design in Canada. Its mission is to advocate on behalf of First Nations, Metis and Inuit communities across this land. After an amazing and inspiring six-month-long exhibition in Venice as the Canadian representative at the Venice Biennale in 2018, the ITF opened UNCEDED at the Canadian Museum of History on May 2, 2019. UNCEDED is scheduled to remain open at the Museum of History until Fall 2020.

The ITF continues to be involved in many activities of national architectural significance. Members are participating in the Indigenous Housing Innovation Initiative through Impact Canada, the Healthy Homes Initiative with the National Research Council, and with the Assembly of First Nations in its proposals for an Indigenous Peoples House at 100 Wellington Street in Ottawa.

Internationally, members of the ITF have been participating with Maori architects, landscape architects, designers, and planners since the inaugural 2016 International Nga Aho Design Symposium in New Zealand.

Practice Support

The RAIC Practice Support Committee completed work on revising and reissuing RAIC Document Six, Canadian Standard Form of Contract for Architectural Services, Document Six in 2018.

It continued to receive growing acceptance by clients and architects across Canada in 2019. The significant achievement of the Practice Support Committee in 2019 was the publication of the 2nd Edition of A Guide to Determining the Appropriate Fees for the Services of an Architect. The "Fee Guide" is used by architects and client organizations across Canada.

To date, the Fee Guide has been downloaded in both French and English over 1,000 times by both members and non-members with sales of the hard copy book continue. 2019 saw the Practice Support Committee involved in reviewing the proposed new CCDC2, the foundational agreement for construction contracts.

CORE

In 2018, the Committee on Regenerative Environments (CORE), chaired by Mona Lemoine, AIBC, MRAIC, LEED AP BD+C, RELi AP, prepared a special resolution on climate change for the Board of Directors. This resolution was brought to the attention of the RAIC membership at the Annual General Meeting on October 27, 2019 during the RAIC 2019 Festival of Architecture. CORE was also instrumental in supporting the President's Panel on Climate Change that occurred at Festival 2019.

Additional activities by CORE in 2019 include supporting the federal election toolkit with a survey question on climate change and producing an advocacy letter to the City of Vancouver Climate Emergency Response. The letter was focused on building retrofits for deep carbon reductions.

Looking toward the future, CORE is represented on the RAIC Congress on Architecture steering committee—which is in the process of developing an environmentally-focused event for 2020.

RAIC Provincial Chapters

January 1, 2019

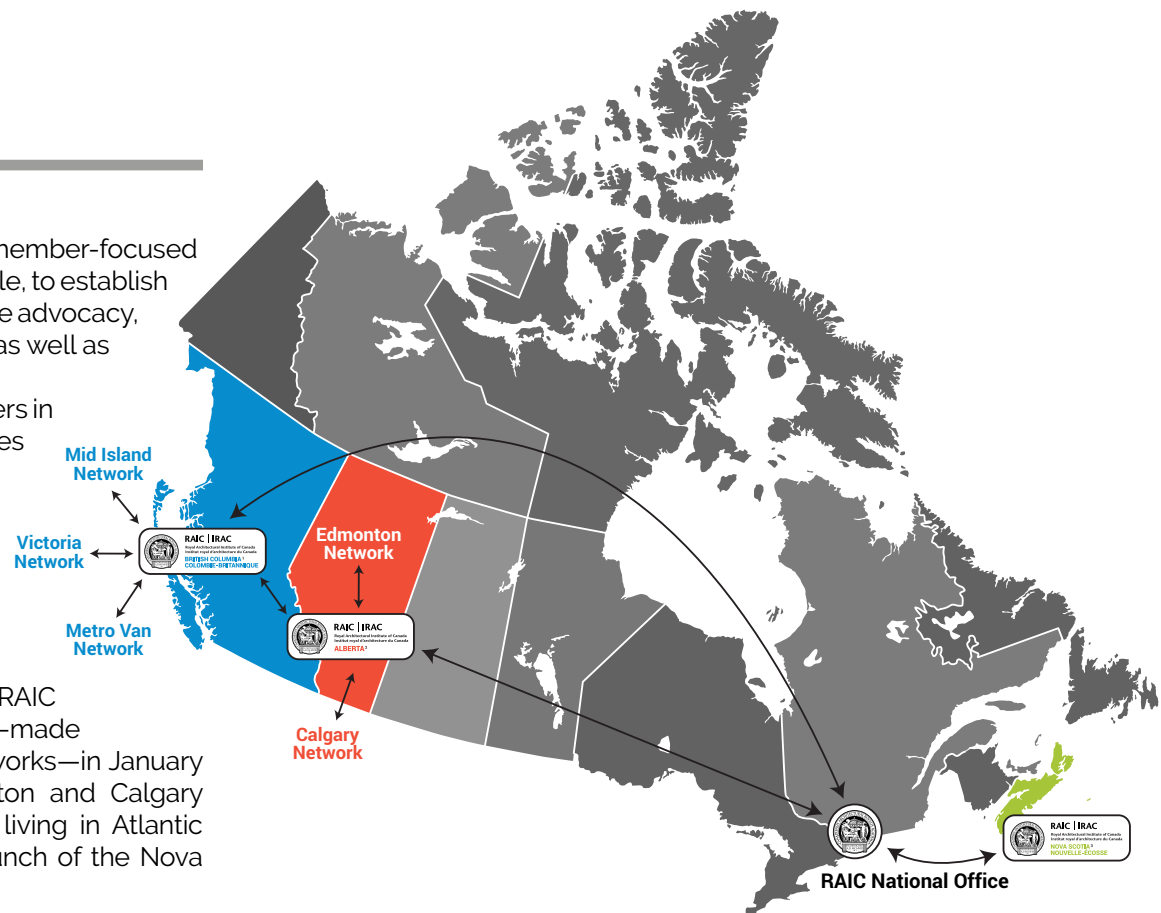

<sup>2</sup>Alberta
April 1, 2019

January 1, 2020

To enable the RAIC to become a stronger, self-sufficient, member-focused organization, the Board of Directors decided, where feasible, to establish Chapters in provinces or territories in order to best serve the advocacy, educational and networking needs of our membership—as well as enable the organization to fulfill its mission and vision. An RAIC Chapter may represent the needs of RAIC members in a province, territory, or as a group of two or more provinces or territories. The RAIC has adopted a “federated” model with respect to its Chapters. In this model, RAIC Chapters are not separate corporate entities, but are governed by RAIC’s Board of Directors—and according to RAIC’s By-Laws, rules, policies, regulations, and strategic priorities.

After planning and development throughout 2018, the RAIC launched the first provincial chapter in British Columbia—made up of the Victoria, Mid-Island, and Metro Vancouver networks—in January 2019. The Alberta Chapter—comprised of the Edmonton and Calgary networks—was launched later in April, and members living in Atlantic Canada met during the summer of 2019 to plan the launch of the Nova Scotia Chapter for 2020.

Chapter networks meet regularly on their own schedules and are driven by engaged local volunteers, supported by RAIC operations.

Membership

Membership: A Year in Review

As of December 31, 2019, the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada recruited and maintained a total of 5,129 members in all categories. The renewal rate was 93 percent, following closely with previous renewal trends that consistently exceeded 90 percent. This high retention rate is indicative of strong member engagement and a well-established community within architectural practice and its associated sectors.

Numerous initiatives for recruitment were undertaken in 2019, resulting in 434 new members being welcomed to the RAIC. We incorporated students enrolled in the RAIC Syllabus program and promoted recruitment throughout 2019 by adding new incentives to join and save.

Starting from an already extensive RAIC benefits and savings program, the RAIC expanded the program to include discounts with the International Trade Council, Dell Small Business and improved savings on the RAIC Online Store. In 2019, the RAIC membership department focused on increasing engagement with members, improving user experience with the website, and promoting the member benefits and savings program.

Membership Survey

A membership survey was conducted in 2019 to assess our members' needs regarding the member savings and benefits program, open communication pathways between our members and staff, and to assess how the RAIC can improve as the national association for the built environment. With hundreds of insightful responses, we set out to discover how we can improve RAIC membership for a stronger profession.

From the survey, we discovered that in the last 2 years, magazine subscriptions, the RAIC newsroom, and continuing education were the most widely used benefits. Comparatively, the highest-rated benefits based on their importance to our members and the profession include RAIC contracts and publications, advocacy, and continuing education.

On a scale of one to ten, the average rating for our membership was an eight. We further gathered a large range of suggestions for benefits that the RAIC should explore as a future benefit or saving and information about what pains our members experience in the workplace so that we may better understand and assist with those pains when possible.

Communications and Advocacy

Government Relations

The RAIC had two significant federal government initiatives during the autumn of 2019. As the federal election to decide the next government of Canada was taking place in October, the RAIC was reaching out to the major parties to learn how they intended on supporting the profession in Canada. Of the prominent political parties in Canada, three responded—the Liberal Party of Canada, the New Democratic Party, and the Green Party. The RAIC asked each part about sustainability—specifically addressing climate change and holistic health through Government of Canada buildings and projects—living conditions in Indigenous communities, federal procurement, and a national architecture policy for Canada.

On World Architecture Day, the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada (RAIC) called on architects to lead in the fight against climate change and bring discussion of the built environment to the federal election. In response to the 2019 World Architecture Day theme, "Architecture...housing for all", the RAIC focused on sustainable and climate-resilient design.

Member Communications

In 2019, the RAIC began new initiatives to improve our communication with members across Canada. Our mailing system, which used to be run through a secondary platform, was fully integrated with the RAIC website. This allowed our organization to build mailing lists that targeted specific groups in the RAIC membership—instead of sending every mailing to all members. The RAIC also contributed articles to AWARD and SABmag magazines, the Right Angle Journal, and Canadian Architect—under the banner of the RAIC Journal. The topics covered in these publications included environmental sustainability, architectural book reviews, interviews with members and spotlighting our award for 2019.

Additionally, the RAIC produced separate for our British Columbia and Alberta chapter networks. These mailings allows member in these regions to be kept abreast of workshops, sessions, and other opportunities that are catered to their local networks.

Social Media

Our organization continued to grow our reach and engagement across all of our social media platforms throughout 2019. October was our most successful month ever in terms of user engagement with 175,000 impressions on Twitter—mostly due to the constant coverage of the RAIC Festival of Architecture. The total number of followers across all social media channels amounted to 12,237—compared to 8,518 at the end of the previous year. 2019 was also the year that the RAIC began a significant overhaul of its social media practices, which will continue to be developed and implemented in 2020.

Financial Performance

Over the past fiscal year, the RAIC's finances continued to record a surplus. We are pleased to report a financial net-surplus of $22,963.

Our major revenue drivers continue to be membership growth and continuing education that focuses on professional development. 2019 expenses were kept in check through careful management of administration costs.

Membership increases continue to contribute to RAIC revenues. 2019 saw a record member renewal rate. Professional Development opportunities, and the ongoing benefits of RAIC membership, have encouraged both renewals and new memberships. The RAIC will continue to focus on membership growth, providing more benefits, and professional development opportunities to members.

The Board of Directors and the Operations Team at the RAIC will continue the trajectory of fiscal strength and remain an efficient, resourceful, member-focused organization. In the coming months, the Board and staff will engage in another cycle of strategic planning that will ensure the RAIC provides our members with the value and levels of service members need to practice architecture at the highest level.

Our auditors, Welch LLP, provided an opinion that the RAIC's Financial Statements for 2019 present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Institute, the results of operations, and cash flows as of December 31, 2019. The statements were approved by the Board of Directors on April 17, 2020.

2020 will see us continue to focus on our core business of Continuing Education, Practice Support, and advocating for architecture in Canada.

Institut royal d'architecture du Canada

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
For
ROYAL ARCHITECTURAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA
For year ended
DECEMBER 31, 2019

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the directors of

ROYAL ARCHITECTURAL INSTITUTE OF CANADAOpinion*

We have audited the financial statements of Royal Architectural Institute of Canada ("Institute"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2019, and the statements of operations and changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Institute as at December 31, 2019 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Institute in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada, and we have fulfilled our ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Institute's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Institute or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Institute's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Institute's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Institute's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Institute to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2019

1. PURPOSE OF ORGANIZATION AND TAX STATUS

The Royal Architectural Institute of Canada ("the Institute") is a not-for-profit corporation that serves as the national organization representing the architectural industry in Canada. The Institute is the leading voice for excellence in the built environment in Canada, demonstrating how design enhances the quality of life, while addressing important issues of society through responsible architecture. Its mission is to promote excellence in the built environment and to advocate for responsible architecture.

The Institute currently has five Chapters and may organize others. The financial activities of these Chapters are included in these financial statements.

The Institute is incorporated under the the Canada Not-for-Profit Corporations Act, and as a not-for-profit organization, is exempt from income taxes by virtue of section 149(1) of the Income Tax Act (Canada).

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of accounting

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Revenue recognition

The Institute follows the deferral method of accounting for revenue. Unrestricted revenue is recognized as revenue when it is received or becomes receivable. Membership fees are recognized as revenue over the period to which they relate. Other revenues are recognized in the year in which the event is held or the revenue earned.

Tangible capital assets

Tangible capital assets are stated at acquisition cost. Amortization is computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the asset as indicated below:

Furniture	- 5 years
Equipment and software	- 3 years

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period.

Management makes accounting estimates in the determination of the Institute's potentially uncollectable receivables, in the estimation of the useful life of capital assets, and in the estimation of the Institute's significant accrued liabilities. By their nature, these estimates are subject to uncertainty and the impact on the financial statements for the current and future periods could be material.

Measurement of financial instruments

The Institute initially measures its financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value and subsequently measures them at cost or amortized cost.

YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2019

3. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Institute is exposed to various risks through its financial instruments.

Credit risk

The Institute is exposed to credit risk resulting from the possibility that parties may default on their financial obligations. The Institute's maximum exposure to credit risk represents the sum of the carrying value of cash, receivables and amounts due from the RAIC Foundation.

The Institute's cash is deposited with a Canadian chartered bank, and the RAIC Foundation is a not-for-profit organization with good credit quality and high net assets. As a result, management believes the risk of loss on these items to be remote. The Institute regularly reviews outstanding receivable amounts and provisions are set up for any uncollectable amounts on an individual basis. No provision was considered necessary in the current or prior year.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Institute cannot meet a demand for cash or fund its obligations as they become due. The Institute meets its liquidity requirements by preparing and monitoring forecasts of cash flow from operations, anticipating financing activities and budgets. Consequently, the Institute's exposure to liquidity risk is minimal.

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk is comprised of three types of risk: currency risk, interest rate risk and other price risk.

i) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that future cash flows of a financial instrument held by the organization will fluctuate because of changes in exchange rates. Substantially all transactions are in Canadian dollars and as a result the Institute is not subject to currency risk.

ii) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that interest rates will change in a way that will impact the future cash flows of the organization. The Institute is not exposed to interest rate risk.

iii) Other price risk

Other price risk refers to the risk that the fair value of financial instruments or future cash flows associated with the instruments will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from currency risk or interest rate risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting all similar instruments traded in the market. The Institute is not exposed to other price risk.

Changes in risk

Due to the redemption of the Guaranteed Investment Certificate (GIC) during the year, the Institute is no longer subject to interest rate risk.

4. RAIC FOUNDATION

The RAIC Foundation is a related organization governed by a Board of Trustees. It is independent from the Institute, however the Institute provides basic administrative services for a fee. Fees collected from the RAIC Foundation for the current year amounted to $10,000 (2018 - $10,000).

All transactions with the RAIC Foundation occur in the normal course of business and are recorded at their exchange amount which is the amount agreed upon by the related parties.

All advances between the Institute and the RAIC Foundation are unsecured, non-interest bearing and have no specified terms of repayment.

5. TANGIBLE CAPITAL ASSETS

Tangible capital assets consist of the following:

	2019		2018
	Cost	Accumulated amortization	Cost	Accumulated amortization
Furniture	$ 101,523	$ 100,174	$ 101,523	$ 99,208
Equipment and software	251,265	221,589	271,363	197,892
	352,788	$ 321,763	372,886	$ 297,100
Accumulated amortization	321,763		297,100
	$ 31,025		$ 75,786

Amortization amounted to $24,663 in the current year (2018 - $52,910) and is included in support of operations expense on the statement of operations and changes in net assets.

6. DEMAND CREDIT FACILITIES

The Institute has the following authorized credit facilities in place as at December 31, 2019:

A revolving demand credit facility of $200,000 with an interest rate of bank prime rate + 1.00% per annum. This demand credit facility was not in use at either the current or prior year-end.

A business credit card facility of $75,000. As at December 31, 2019, balances on issued business credit cards amounted to $22,034 (2018 - $5,833) and are included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities on the statement of financial position.

The credit facilities are secured by a first ranking security interest in all personal property belonging to the Institute.

9. SUBSEQUENT EVENT

In March 2020, subsequent to the Institute's year-end, multiple jurisdictions across Canada declared states of emergencies in response to public health concerns originating from the spread of the novel coronavirus disease. Those measures included travel restrictions and social distancing requirements which included a call to avoid crowded places and non-essential gatherings.

As a result of these events, the Institute cancelled its annual Conference which was to occur in Edmonton in June 2020, along with a number of other events, meetings and workshops. Cancellation fees were not incurred relating to the venues for the Conference. The Institute is currently in negotiations with vendors to cancel contracts and is offering cancellation options to delegates, exhibitors and sponsors. At the time of issuing these financial statements, the 2020 budget is being re-visited however the financial impact of these actions is not yet known.

For good governance and operational and governing efficiencies there are separate Regional Directors for Saskatchewan and Manitoba to provide more equal representation.

What's New

• Anticipating Future Growth

For good governance and operational and governing efficiencies there are provisions to eventually expand the size of the Board from 15 to a maximum of 24 members through additional Regional Representation in the Atlantic Provinces and the North as well as a Secretary and Officer position and up to 2 Directors-at-Large.

Incorporating the potential for expansion at this point in time means that future Boards will not need to revise the By-Laws in order to match the capacity of the Board with anticipated future growth in membership and demand for additional RAIC services. Any expansion would be dependent on financial viability.
