

Getting Things Done:
Evolution of the Built Environment in Vorarlberg

Getting Things Done: Evolution of the Built Environment in Vorarlberg

Curated by Wolfgang Fiel

Over the last half century, the Austrian State of Vorarlberg has developed an international reputation for its radical yet sensitive and considered approach to architecture, design and building. A combination of innovative architects and clients, liberal building and planning regulations, an aspiring regional government and open-minded public has paved the way for a built environment and culture with design quality at its heart. Ecological sensitivity, the value placed on traditional and innovative crafts and skills, investment in young designers, and good understanding of local materials and landscape all contribute to the Vorarlberg phenomenon. Getting Things Done is a touring exhibition showcasing the architecture of Vorarlberg.

January 27-March 25, 2017
Urbanspace Gallery_401 Richmond St. W.

Cover Image:
Oskar Leo Kaufmann | Albert Rűf
Haus R, Schnepfau
Photograph: Adolf Bereuter

austrian cultural forum yow

Ryerson
University

Urbanspace
Gallery

